FEW WORDS ABOUT US

" Let us unite, not in spite of our differences, but through them, for the difference can never be wiped away, and life would be so much poorer without them. " Rabindranath

Persons with disability are an integral part of our society Their rights, entitlements and opportunities, as well as services for their specific needs, have to be made available and assured, in the same way that they are made available for other persons in our social fabric.

Children with special needs require extra attention, teaching, care - and love. Every child has the right to grow up in a safe environment. Unfortunately in India that's not always the cases especially when one is different from others. Many children, who are called still as Disabled end up on the streets and they have to beg for money to survive

" Different Abled " was first proposed (in 1980s) as an alternative to ' Disabled ', ' Handicapped ', etc. On the ground that it gave a more positive message and so avoided discrimination towards people with disabilities. The term has gained little currency, however, and has been criticised as both over - euphemistic and condescending. The accepted term in general use is still disabled.

The idea of rehabilitating the differently abled children had always anchored our thoughts to give them a productive and bright future. Incorporating these thoughts, IIMCW started its journey in the year 1998, with a commitment to instil our children with a better tomorrow. This non-profitable and social welfare organisation primarily aims at fulfilling the plights of Slow Learners, Autistics, Hearing Impaired and students with learning disability.

Progressing significantly in this field, we stepped forward in the year 2013 with the establishment of a Vocational unit with an endeavour to train our children in the fields of Computer, Art & craft, Handwork etc, thus creating an opportunity for them to become both socially and financially independent.

We have also taken initiatives in opening clinics for Counselling and Special therapy in evening session since 2006.

It is our declared goal to set up a Multispeciality Residential Special School, accomdating various students from different sectors of our society
